Suggestions on Course Selection:

1. First, read the C.E.P. 2022 spring semester course list and course description carefully to get to know the course information; consult your home university about the required credits, course selection, and the credit-transfer. You need to be clear about how much credits you are required to receive from your exchange at Donghua University.
 - All exchange students are suggested to learn Chinese for a better involvement in the study and life here in Shanghai.
2. Fill on the application form your preliminary course selection. You can write two or three more courses than you need. Please be aware that if one specialty course is selected by only very few students, it will be canceled. At the enrollment day, you may have to do a little bit adjustment because of time conflict, or the cancellation, etc. The final course selection and the credits will be confirmed during the first week (March 7-11, 2022).
